GENERAL NEGOTIATIONS:
DECEMBER 12-16, 2005

The deadline for proposals to be submitted to the IATSE West Coast Office is Thursday, November 10, 2005. Any proposals received after this date will not be accepted.

Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses...

Local 44, in conjunction with the I.A.T.S.E. and the LA Shop Task Force, is going after non-union shops who fabricate or rent props for the motion picture industry in full force. In just the past few months, we have successfully organized several small shops including Set Masters, Industry Glass and Plan B. We are also close to signing an agreement with Lennie Marvin Enterprises.

If you or someone you know is tired of poor working conditions, low wages, and no benefits at a non-union shop, please feel free to contact me. You have the right to organize under Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act of 1947. Please contact me at the hall 818-769-2500 or at home, 661-296-5368, all conversations will be held in the strictest of confidence and your privacy will be protected. We look forward to hearing from you and helping to facilitate better working conditions and benefits.

Special Announcement regarding Downey Studios

As you know,  is a workers' compensation attorney representing some of our members who were injured working at  Studios. In order to pursue your claims further, he needs more of the dust and material some of you collected when working at Downey. Please contact me and I will arrange to get these materials to him so that he can have the contents studied in a laboratory.

As we have explained at the meetings, each member who files a claim is sent to a doctor for treatment. John has agreed with the insurance adjuster to have our members examined by an Agreed Medical Examiner. The AME is considered impartial and his opinion will have a significant effect on all the claims for the members. Mr. Miller has advised me that the first AME report was received this week and it held in favor of the member. It said his symptoms were all a result of the work he did at  Studios, that the air was toxic, mold was present, and the member needs ongoing medical treatment for his sinus condition, headaches, and additional health problems. In addition to the workers' comp claims, Mr. Miller is filing civil cases in Superior Court for each injured person who worked at  Studios.

If you have not filed a claim, contact us as soon as possible and we will get you in contact with an attorney. And remember, if you have any dust or materials from the walls, ceiling, ground, yellow asbestos caution tape, and/or photos, please contact us at your earliest convenience.

LETTERS TO THE LOCAL

The viewpoints of the individual members expressed herein do not necessarily state or reflect those of Local 44, its officers or staff.

Dear Newsreel;

Another Thanksgiving is upon us, my 86th, and I would like to give thanks to Local 44 and the Motion Picture Industry Pension and Health Plan. Without their support, I may not have been able to continue my two year fight against cancer.

I was a Propmaker and Special Effects Man from 1965 until retiring in 1986. I mourn the passing of all the brothers, especially those I personally knew and worked with, recently Bill Parks and Joe Goss, and others, and I say to active working members of IATSE, "SUPPORT YOUR UNION, AND IT WILL SUPPORT YOU."

Sincerely,
Mr. Gordon W. Graff

New Way of Bringing in Members

Well brothers and sisters, we have a new board and officers. And as with every new regime, there are changes. But the one I experienced at our last meeting was a bit out of the ordinary. I was speaking my piece as a paid up member has the right to do, when our new vice president told me to SHUT UP and SIT DOWN. In the 30 years that I have been going to meetings, no one has ever done that to me. If this a way of trying to get to my good side it wont work.

JOE PINOY LOZANO
local 44 member of 30+ years

On Sunday October 16, 2005

the L.A. Times published an article entitled "Down, Dirty in Morocco" about the filming of "The Hills Have Eyes." The film is set in New Mexico but was shot in Morocco.

It was hard to miss the arrogance of those Producers trying to save a buck and exploit the cost savings of low wages and no rules while shuddering at having to rub shoulders with the locals. These quotes from the article speak volumes.

Producer Frank Hildebrand expressed the dream of all Hollywood Producers. "There are no rules, no laws. As long as you get permission to shoot in the country, you can do anything."

Moroccan Producer Sam Layani said "I see the things [the foreign film crews] don't see, and I don't want them to see. People around here live in misery."

Producer Marianne Maddalena showed her interest in multi-culturalism by traveling to Morocco with Sylvester Stallone's high protein pudding. "That way, you don't actually have to eat any food."

These quotes are embarrassing to the film community and once again perpetrate the image of the Ugly American.

AN IMPROVEMENT

By Elliot Jennings

It's hard to believe that I just passed the first anniversary of assuming office (October 1, 2004). We have made major strides in improving the health of Local 44 financially.

As a result of installing a budget early this year from which to operate, determine cuts and costs savings, the financial advisors of the Local commented this is the first year since they began servicing our accounts that they can remember the Local adding to the funds instead of depleting them.

At the general meeting in March and again at the craft meetings in June and October, those members that attended were given the budget, the 2004 numbers and where we were currently during the year, and members were allowed to ask questions. This is the openness we promised.

One of the biggest complaints when I assumed office was that members would be working side-by-side with other members who were dropped or suspended. Many of these members bragged at how they could get away with this and even if they were caught, the Local let them off without paying their fines.

In October 2004, the number of these individuals was over 500; in October 2005 the number is below 100. Most of these are day players, who have been laid off by the time we catch up to them on a show. The influx of the penalties and reinstatements has helped shore up our finances.

For 2005, the Executive Board had to make some hard decisions on cutting personnel, programs, and benefits. That was until we got our financial house in order.

There were two major reasons for our financial strife, unregulated overspending, and under-charging of each member's obligation. Over the past decade that resulted in at least a $3 million dollar loss to the Union.

Without getting into details, this was improperly done. All fees and financial obligations need to be collected in full; once collected, a Union has the ability to institute programs and distribute benefits back to its members.

Why this background? 2006 is fast approaching and you will be receiving an increase in your quarterly payment. But that's a good thing! Remember, your dues are based on four hours' pay of your craft's lowest Basic Agreement wage. You only get a dues increase when your hourly rates go up. According to the CBLs, the Local is required to tie your dues to your hourly rate.

Your quarterly payments include the International Per Capita; and affiliate taxes for District 2 – IATSE, Cal-Fed AFL-CIO, L.A. County Fed/ AFL-CIO, and Cal-State Theatrical. In the past several years, Per Capita and affiliate taxes have not reflected in the yearly dues increases. The Affiliates don't let us underpay them! As a result, dues are lower than required by the CBL's, and there is a discrepancy between the incoming amount and the amount Local 44 is required to pay out.

Who suffers from the shortage from each member? The Local. The shortage comes out of our operating capital. Who suffers from that? You do. Because we undercharge, you lose out on benefits, programs, and training possibilities. Last year the Local had to subsidize $380,000 from its coffers to pay its obligations to other Affiliates.

What did that do last year? Because of budget shortfalls, we had to hold off on increasing the life insurance policy, we had to cancel the Picnic and several Retiree events, and we couldn't begin scholarship funds, strike funds, or educational programs for our members.

You will get an increase in your quarterly payments, a minimum of $5 per quarter (that is your dues increase and the International per capita tax).

Additionally, when polled in the craft meetings and in the Newsreel last month, an overwhelming majority of the members (94%) agreed to an amount of $20 or one hour's pay next year to support FTAC's position for fighting runaway production. If it is made a budget item, your dues may increase another $5-$7 per quarter to fund this.

Realize there is a $50 to $70 a year subsidy for each member in the Local. While we have no intention of jumping everyone's payments in one year to what it is required to be, over the next several years we want to try and eliminate this problem. This money will return to you in increased benefits.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

By Erik Nelson

Did You VOTE?

I hope you did and I hope that the propositions 74, 75, & 76 were defeated. I write this before my absentee ballot has arrived in my mail. I found that is the easiest way to get my vote into the mix, even when I was working those damnable 14 or 18 hour days, or when I was on distant location.

Those were important issues, but we will have one of our own in the next short while. There has been a committee working on changing out-moded parts of our constitution for some time now and the Election Article will soon be in the mail for your ratification. At the time I write this, it has already been sent to the International for vetting (it must pass muster with International C & BL before we can replace the old Article in our Constitution. This is a very important matter for all of us – you must be aware of some of the problems we have had in recent elections, and it cost this local money. We think that we have solved the problems and are compliant with Department of Labor rules. Take the couple of minutes to help make this change when this issue comes up for election.

I had the pleasure of sitting in on the Firearms Safety class that was held at the Hall on the 1st of October. There were only a few members who took advantage of this program that is important for anyone handling firearms in motion pictures and television. It probably is important to those of you who are just on the set when firearms are being used as props. There was a lot of hands-on inspection of a variety of weapons and blank ammunition. The class is paid for through the AMPTP with the thought that a version of the class will be added to the Safety Passport program. There will be similar classes held in the near future with the developing of Intermediate and Advanced classes to follow. All Property Masters should take the course whether they handle the firearms themselves or have an assistant who is licensed and takes care of the weapons and ammunition. Knowledge is power. There is always something new to learn.

I recently had the occasion to travel to British Columbia and Alberta – for pleasure! Not for work. While there I stayed in Vancouver for a few nights and besides enjoying the sights and sounds I checked out some of the stages. North Vancouver was bustling, Burnaby had productions waiting by the stages for the previous company to get off, and my taxi was diverted by a production company on the streets. Then, in Calgary, I found filming on the streets was backing up rush hour traffic– just like in L A. I mention this not to congratulate our brothers and sisters in Canada, but to remind you that some of the work should be here in Hollywood and but for the subsidies that they throw at our producers, that work would be yours. I urge you to vocally support the 301a petition for which money is being raised so that the WTO will investigate the illegal subsidies being paid by a number of countries to take our work out of the USA. If you don't know how to complain about it, just let me know, or go to FTAC.org. The recent SAG election that put several new members on their board and elected an active, progressive President has resulted in SAG's donation of $10,000 to fund the CEIDR Report and to unanimously endorse the 301a. We have the opportunity to donate money toward the finalization of the 301a through our dues payments similar to the per capita that the international and the AFL-CIO assesses. Several of you responded that it was important to do just that.

ATTENTION PROPERTY PERSONS AND PROPERTY MASTERS: FIREARMS SAFETY/HANDLING COURSE AVAILABLE

A Contract Services sponsored Firearms Safety Handling Course open to Property Persons and Property Masters will be held at Local 44 on Saturday, November 19, 2005. Applications must be received by Contract Services no later than Monday, November 14, 2005.

Please call 769-2500 ext. 109 for applications and additional information.

STRAIGHT TIME

By Craig Raiche

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

Contract Negotiation

Committees have all turned in their final proposals to our Business Agent. Weeks before you read this, our Executive Board will have already discussed and decided the feasibility of each proposal. This process (allowing each craft to determine their own contract proposals via committee) is still very new to us. This is just the second time we've done it like this and we can thank former Business Agent, Stew McGuire, for instituting this practice. Over time, we will only get better at it.

On October 17, the West Hollywood City Council joined a small, but growing, number of U.S. cities who have also called for an investigation into, possibly, illegal subsidies paid by foreign governments to U.S. studios and producers who shoot films outside our borders. A few months prior, the city of Burbank did likewise.

As you also know, Local 44, officially, resolved support for this effort and our members overwhelmingly responded in the positive to financially support this, truly, grassroots movement. Support continues to build and L.44 proudly stands at the forefront of this issue. If you'd like to help even more, or if you'd just like more information, please contact the Film and Television Action Committee (FTAC) at ftac.org.

Our local still lacks correct information on how to contact a small number of members. Please, update your contact info. To receive pertinent info in the most timely and convenient manner, include your email address.

Many members have stated their desire for a website where all L.44 members can express themselves. Although it is an "unofficial" site, there is such a place. Please, check out:

<http://iatse.org/44/forum/index.php>

There WAS a site for all IA members to join in a communal comment, but it "died" recently. It was "Free Your International Alliance" (FYIA.org) and its webmaster pulled the plug a few months ago when he decided it was much too "Hollywood" centric... and L.44 centric to boot! If any L.44 member would like to revive this site, (and, by that, I mean "assume its managerial chores") please, let me know and I'll put you in contact with its former webmaster. In just three years it received close to four thousand posts, each chocked-full of opinionated dialogue. This site is sorely missed by many. I especially liked their credo: "Democracy is not a 'thing' - it is a participatory process."

We recently held our latest round of craft meetings. Congratulations to our Set Decorators as only their craft managed a quorum. My craft, Property Masters, had a truly dismal turnout. With apologies to all other crafts, I'd like to say a few words in praise of our Prop Masters.

You'll receive very little recognition and you'll not receive even one Emmy or one Oscar nomination, but there IS a reason you're called "Master." Due to the immediacy of the job, you're often forced to make your own "working props." Under certain circumstances, you are allowed to perform minor special effects and minor set decoration. You can function as prop master, assistant prop master, lead person, shopper/buyer, set dresser and on-set dresser. To assist you in the performance of your job, you will hire an endless array of "specialists," such as, computer experts, food stylists, weapons handlers, graphic artists, animal trainers, etc. Ironic, as it is, you will, invariably, pay each specialist more money than you are being paid. Not surprisingly, most of you have performed a "bit part" on camera; many of you carry an S.A.G. card; and some of you will even execute a stunt or two before you retire. It is an amazing position and in all the IATSE no other craft is allowed to work in so many different capacities. My hat is off to all of you, too. You are, indeed, "Master's of All Properties."

Before I step down from the soapbox, I want to thank everyone who took the time to inquire my reason for not writing anything in the last NEWSREEL... I'm glad you missed me. I'll try to not let it happen again.

As always, I thank you for reading.
Craig Raiche

HELP STOP RUNAWAY PRODUCTION

By Erik Nelson

We are enjoying fairly full employment in most of our crafts RIGHT NOW, but Runaway Production has taken so many of our jobs away from Hollywood that we will very likely be feeling the pinch of lower employment again soon – if things do not change regarding subsidies from foreign governments undercutting our reasonable wages.

On Oct. 17, the West Hollywood City Council, in recognition of the problem, voted to endorse the 301a petition being moved through the political process by FTAC. My two minutes went much too quickly, but several volunteers from SAG, 399, WGA, 728, 600, 800 and others spoke on the issue against a lone third-stringer hired by the MPAA. The cause moves forward. The enlightened leadership at FTAC deserves more than applause for their unpaid efforts. Check it out: www.ftac.org Thanks, West Hollywood!!

I wish to express my thanks to Erin Hennessey for sitting in on the Craft meetings that I was unable to attend due to personal “business” in Texas, and keeping me apprised as to what happened at those meetings. Those that I was able to attend were interesting for me with intelligent people discussing rationally some of the problems of their Crafts. Too bad there were so few of their brothers and sisters in attendance.

What do you want to see, hear or do at your Craft meeting that would make you want to attend? How about that for the question of the month? I hope to hear from you on that subject!!

Retiree Spotlight: Susan Moffett

Susan Moffett is not your typical 95 year-old. A retired Property-Sewing person, she's quick with a laugh and quick to tell you her age, "I'll be 95 in October and I'm proud of my age," proclaimed Moffett, sitting comfortably in her immaculate home with her daughter Elizabeth Langworthy and granddaughter Catherine Mawer. "I'm proud that God has let me live as long as I have."

Moffett arrived in Los Angeles from Providence, Rhode Island in 1929. (Back then, she was Assunta Angelina DiMeo, she would later change her name to the more American "Susan.") "There were ten of us in a big Studebaker," she said, describing with a mischievous grin, her cross-country trip with her father, mother, and seven brothers and sisters, "It was a long ride."

On October 15, 1935 Moffett married Joseph Robert Delahanty who was an upholstery foreman at MGM; but it would be twenty years before she started in the studios. "I started working on May 10, 1955," she recalls with remarkable precision, "they needed an upholstery seamstress at Warner Brothers and my sister-in-law recommended me. At the time, we had our own drapery and upholstery business. But I decided to help them out for a few days." Twenty-one years later, Moffett would retire as the head of the Warner Brothers Upholstery/Drapery department.

In those days, almost all of the work was done in the studios. "We made everything you saw on the sets, now a lot of it is shopped out," said Moffett. "We did a lot of intricate work - beautiful detail that you just don't see any more. And we did every single piece."

Moffett worked on shows ranging from Auntie Mame, to Camelot, to "Police Woman." "I can't remember them all, a lot of the time they didn't even tell us what we were working on, but I guess I did most of the Warner Brother's pictures at that time."

Some of her fondest memories from her years at Warner Brothers are of the people she encountered along the way. "Angie Dickenson came in when she was doing 'Police Woman,' they shot one of the segments in our department. I told her the show was going to be a success, and it was," Moffett recalls. "I loved Rosiland Russell too," she adds, "she gave me one of her cigarette holders - she so was down to earth and friendly."

At this, Mrs. Moffett's granddaughter, Catherine Mawer, chimes in, "that's because Grandma is so friendly - when I'm out with her, she's hugging everybody - strangers - she's friends with everybody."

"Nobody's a stranger to me," Moffett shrugs. "I love everyone. I like people."

Perhaps Moffett's people skills were what led her to serve on the Local 44 Executive Board in the late fifties. "They just put my name down and there I was, representing my craft." During her ten-year term, she attended three conventions, "it was my first trip on a plane; we went to Kentucky, then Michigan, then Kansas."

Moffett retired from Warner Brothers on February 28, 1976. "When I left, I had fifteen girls working for me. They were all crying, you'd think I'd died," Moffett says with a laugh. By this time, she was married to studio driver Frederick "Ted" Moffett. Joseph Delahanty passed away in 1957. "I was very lucky to have two wonderful men in my life," Moffett mused. "Ted was seven years older than me, and I don't drive - so he was carting me back and forth to work everyday. When I retired, I told Ted, 'now you can retire for real.'"

But for Moffett, retirement didn't mean inactivity. "I owe my longevity to keeping busy," she explains. "I don't sit around dilly-dallying." For starters, Moffett was the inspiration for the formation of the Warner Bros. Studios Retirees Club. "I went to get the pin for my years of service, and Royal Regan said, 'I guess you and Ted will be doing a lot of traveling now.' I told him I didn't really care to travel. So Royal said, 'let's start a Retirees Club.'"

In 1977 the WB Retirees Club was officially formed and Moffett was drafted as Treasurer, a position she has held ever since. "More than once I've pulled a Coolidge - 'I don't care to run,' but they wouldn't let me go. I'm still the Treasurer. Oy Vey!" Moffett explains that when the club first started there were only seven members. "Now we have 376. The end of the fiscal year is July 31, so that's a busy time - they're all renewing their dues." Astonishingly, she does all of the accounting in her head.

Moffett said she has been doing crossword puzzles since she was thirteen. "I love crosswords, and that's good because it keeps my mind sharp." Then she adds with a giggle, "You know, anything to make it work." Additionally she writes the alphabet (uppercase and lowercase) and her numbers one through ten once each day to keep her handwriting in shape. She taught all of her children to do the same, "I still do my numbers and letters," said Moffett's daughter Elizabeth. "You should see Mom's handwriting, it's still perfect, it's tiny."

Moffett has nineteen great-grandchildren, twelve grandchildren, and two daughters, Elizabeth Langworthy and Gloria Gowdy. She is very active with the Local 44 Retirees as well as with the Warner Brothers studios retirees; and she spends a great deal of time throwing parties for family and friends in her home. "I love throwing parties - for Easter and Christmas, I have forty people over and I have a sit-down dinner. We rearrange the furniture so everyone fits - I don't want the kids in the kitchen, I want them at the table - they're family!"

One can't help sensing that Susan Moffett has lived every minute of her 95 years to the fullest - surrounded by family, friends, and a flurry of activity. "I thank the good lord I'm still alive and kicking." With this, she gives a little kick.

We should all be so full of life.

INDUSTRY GLASS PROVIDES A NEW OPTION

Industry Glass is the first shop of its kind to become part of the IATSE Signatory family. "Most of the glazing in the industry is let out to other companies," said Craig Von Lanken co-owner of Industry Glass. "We thought it would be great if we could start a signatory company, because we can keep people working through the union. A lot of these glass company employees make $12 an hour coming on to the lot, while there are Propmakers sitting at home without a job."

Von Lanken along with his partner Charles Basurto are backed by a combined twenty-five years of glazing experience and 14 years of propmaking experience. Their unique skill-set, combined with a thorough knowledge of set construction, makes them an asset to any project. "As propmakers, we know the system of building sets," said Basurto. "Set building is different from work in the outside world," added Von Lanken, "The way you fasten storefronts, the hardware, there are tricks to all of it, and you have to know how to assemble it so that it's safe. An outside glass company might not know how to do that."

Von Lanken started in the glazing business at the age of 19, and as propmakers, both Von Lanken and Basurto worked extensively with glass. "As a Propmaker," said Von Lanken, "I would tell the coordinator what to order and how to install to save money. With Industry Glass, we hope to achieve that on a larger scale." Von Lanken said that the next step for him and Basurto is to implement a system that will help the coordinator by creating packages that suit the specific needs of the show while staying within budget. "We will give the coordinator choices of how the glass is installed. For example: 'Charles and I can do this storefront, but you'll save some money if you use your own Propmakers for this.'"

Von Lanken and Basurto don't foresee their decision to go signatory effecting their ability to keep costs low. "We can use union guys and be just as competitive as other companies," said Von Lanken. "And now coordinators have the union option – before there wasn't a union glass shop – now there's a choice."

PLAN "B" DESIGN GROUP: HOME OF FAST-PACED PROPS

Mike Landi, a mechanical engineer and president of Plan "B" Design Group, is thrilled that his company has become signatory to the IATSE.

"We're really excited and looking forward to doing union work – we've wanted to do more movie work, and now we can," said

Landi. "Ronnie Cunningham and everybody at Local 44 has been totally supportive – and it's made it really a pleasure to start doing business in this formant."

For years, Plan "B" has been designing and manufacturing large-scale mechanical props. "We build working trolleys and carousels, large-scale convention displays, and rock-and-roll staging equipment, and we're heavy into automotive, we recently did some work on The Fast and the Furious: Tokyo Drift" said Landi. Last year, Plan "B" did world tour sets for the likes of Missy Elliot, Nelly, Busta Rhymes, Mary J. Blige, and 50 Cent among others. Currently, they are working on a set for Madonna's world tour. "We do a lot of production equipment for awards shows as well, from MTV to BET to source, to the American Music awards," added Jason Castillo, Plan "B's" Vice President. "We also do a lot of trade show work - it could be anything from Autoramas to magic shows. So we're very versatile." Additionally, Plan "B" also does remote-control animatronics and robotic work.

According to Landi, Plan "B's" sensitivity to compressed time frames is one of the company's biggest assets. "Our general outlook and experience in the business kind-of sets us apart. We have a very professional attitude and a professional, highly-qualified, technically-minded crew. We build things quickly and cost effectively. We can do a lot of things for less."

Another of Plan "B's" attributes is the fact that they're a one-stop shop. "We really don't sub anything out," said Castillo. "We have a full wood shop, we have people who can do sculpting and molding, we have a full welding shop and a full machine shop."

"We're also very focused on precision. Our machinery is high precision, including CNC equipment and precision welding equipment," Landi added. "We can do fiberglass and molds, or we can do the set work and the carpentry, we can do all the mechanical work and anything that coordinates between the two, and we can do it all in-house, at a great price."

JUST A FEW REMINDERS

By Ed Brown

With contract talks right around the corner and our focus on issues that could use additions and upgrades, I wanted to take a moment to touch on some things that won't change and need to be reinforced.

A reminder to all supervisors when working anyone in a "Higher Classification" for two hours or more you must re-rate that person to the higher rate of pay for the entire shift. This applies to all crafts at any point during the work day. Specifically be reminded that Drapery and Flooring goods are to be installed by just that, Drapery and/or Flooring persons. If you utilize Property crew for this work, it must be incidental, as well if this work consumes more than the stated 2 hours, those crew members must be re-rated. Remember that the key to re-rating kicks in at the "two hour" point.

"Rest Periods" or "Breaks" are not only State mandated they are clearly defined in our contracts. As stated in Paragraph 20.2 "Rest Periods for "Off-Production" Employees" – An "Off Production" employee shall be given, when time permits, a rest period not to exceed fifteen (15) minutes for each four (4) hour work period. The key words here are "when time permits". This wording does not allow for the elimination of a break, nor does it allow for breaks to take place hours after they should occur. It is mandatory that persons supervising a crew be aware that these breaks are again State mandated.

There have been some instances where we have found members working in classifications other than the classification you are on the roster for. In just about every case it has been some kind of oversight or paperwork mix-up. Please take a moment and go to the Contract Services web-site, (the link can be found at www.local44.org) log in under "General Access" enter your information and check to make sure they have you listed properly.

To All Property Persons! The Wiring of Practical Lighting Fixtures is beyond our scope of expertise! The installation and dressing of lighting fixtures is the jurisdiction of Local 44, the practical wiring is not, most fundamentally from a safety point. We are not licensed Electricians and cannot assume the liabilities involved with practical wiring. This includes wiring of practical outlets on sets built on stage. As well, a greater concern, I have been made aware that on several occasions Set Dressing persons have been requested or coerced into removing practical lighting fixtures from private homes and reinstalling Set Decoration lighting fixtures. Be aware that this puts you and your production in a situation of liability if a wiring short occurs with a resulting accident or worse yet a fire. If you are put into this situation you must bring this to the attention of the show's Location Manager and put this responsibility into their hands and out of yours.

On another note, when you call the hall to speak with me if you get my voice mail please don't hang up. More than likely I am on the other line with another member. It is my preference to not put people on hold to take other calls I prefer to give complete attention to whoever I am on the phone with. So please do leave a message, I will get back to you. Remember the only stupid questions are the ones that go unasked. We are here for you! Wishing you and yours a heartfelt Thanksgiving holiday. Spend time with the ones you love, it is time well spent. Stay in touch, stay informed.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Beware of using your personal car for business. AAA's annual study of driving costs estimates the cost of running the average car at 56.2 cents per mile. (The estimate factors in depreciation in the value of the car over five years, cost of insurance, fuel maintenance and finance charged and assumes that 15,000 miles are driven per year.) That's almost 41% higher than the IRS's 40.5 cents per mile maximum that companies are allowed to reimburse employees in 2005. If your company uses the IRS maximum mileage reimbursement, you lose 15.7 cents for every mile you drive. For a 200-mile business trip, you would lose $31.40. Also: Many companies will not reimburse employees for the car insurance deductible, typically $500, if the car is involved in an accident. Consult your employee benefits manual, or ask a human resources representative about current policies. SPEAK UP RESPONSES

The viewpoints of the individual members expressed herein do not necessarily state or reflect those of Local 44, its officers or staff.

Below are the comments we received in response to the SPEAK UP! question in the Sept./Oct. Newsreel: "Where do you feel negotiations should concentrate their efforts?"

Adjust requirements for retirement. Perhaps two of the current three (#1 -30 yrs, #2 - 60,000 hours, #3 -60 years old). Then our older brothers and sisters could opt for full retirement rather than compete with younger members for fewer jobs.
-David McGuire
44 Property Master

Our wages need to go up considerable on par with actors, lumber and housing. Make us outrageously expensive and let them all $@*# off to Canada.
-Bobby Pollard
44 Property

We definitely need to work, not just for bigger gains in our pension plans but for changes in the health and pension plans' requirements for retirement. Our jobs are pretty rough for anyone to do when they are young but to be propmaking or hustling furniture when you're over 50 is a hazard to all AND to be forced into such labor at that age in order to be able to get permanent medical or to receive your full pension is simply ridiculous!

There is no "SPEAK UP!" Question this month. The "SPEAK UP!" feature will return in next month's Newsreel.

2006 TRAINING: PARTICIPATE!

Contract Services has issued applications for 2006 industry training. Each year, around January or February, the board of Trustees of Contract Services Administration Training Trust Fund meets to allocate funds to IATSE Locals for industry training. These applications are due on November 21, 2005.

In 2005, Local 44 was granted funding for the Firearms Safety class. During the process of selecting training programs to request, Local 44 is required to show not only the cost and purpose of the training program, but also a level of interest from members indicating that this training will benefit as many people as possible.

WE NEED YOUR HELP!
Please contact your craft representatives and let them know what kind of training you are interested in and make a commitment to attending class if Local 44 is granted funding. HELP US HELP YOU!

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETINGS HIGHLIGHTS

Many of our members have expressed an interest in the content of the monthly Executive Board meetings. Below is a summary of the most recent meetings. These are only brief highlights and do not contain great detail. They are meant to give an overview of things that were discussed, not a fully accurate account. Any member wishing to read the minutes of the Executive Board in their entirety, may do so by appointment through the Secretary-Treasurer's office.

Wed., September 7th, 2005 – Regular Meeting

Michael Cappello is sworn in as new Propmaker Representative, replacing vacated seat of Erin Hennessey who filled the seat of Vice-President.

Presentation: Lot Stewards

Several lot stewards presented their objections to the Executive Board's mandate to use log books and procedures.

Motion: The required Steward logbook would be eliminated and instead any Executive Board member can attend any Steward meeting and additionally all Lot Stewards should attend training within 6 months.

Motion passed.

Discussion: The second postponement of a member trial.

Motion: That the trial be postponed until November 2nd.

Motion passed.

Motion: That the "excuse" letter not directly delivered to the Secretary-Treasurer's office by one of charged parties, not be recognized as legitimate.

Motion passed.

Report: Trustee Quarterly Report

The Trustees presented the results of their Quarterly Audit including their suggested changes and concerns. There was a request for hiring the same auditors for the yearly audit as were retained last year. The cost should be less than the previous year.

With the Trustees doing the quarterly report, did we need an accountant doing the quarterly audit and the yearend audit? With the hiring of an in-house CPA, it would not be necessary to have a quarterly auditor only an independent yearend auditor.

Attorney for Local said that only problem with independent auditors recommendations was an Investment Committee of members outside the Executive Board. The Federal Government places responsibility on the elected Board to make the financial decisions of a Union.

Motion: To retain the services of the previous year's Accounting firm for this year's audit.

On a split vote, motion passed with one abstention.

Presentation: The facts as each one knew them, of a dispute between one of the Executive Board Member's and one of our Shop Stewards.

The E-Board member stated that he was merely explain to certain members on a stage the facts surrounding the B.A. and some legal matters. The Steward had told him to stop bad-mouthing people.

The Steward stated that members had reported that the E-Board member had spread dissent against the B.A. and he told him to stop.

Both the Executive Board member and the Steward resolved to let the incident pass.

Discussion: Craft Meeting Dates.

The Representatives set the dates for the upcoming Craft Meetings.

The Propmakers requested a small stipend to create "door prizes" in an attempt to garner interest in their meeting.

Motion: To allow prizes, (not to exceed $400) for Propmaker Craft Meeting.

On a split vote, motion passed with two abstentions.

Discussion: Could we attempt to "squeeze" in a Local Picnic as we were beginning to look better financially. The time frame was too short, and we couldn't guarantee the rest of the year's outlook. The picnic would be looked at for 2006.

Discussion: To donate to the CEIDR report. This report was to update information on the extent of runaway production. The report would cost $50,000. Local 600 had donated $15,000. Local 44's membership was over 90% in favor of the 301a and this was a first-step.

Motion: To donate $5,000 to CEIDR update.

Motion passed.

Discussion: Contract Committee submissions and the deadline.

There is a November 10, 2005 deadline to submit request to the IA office. We needed to have each craft submit their proposals well ahead of time so that the B.A. and the Executive Board can review them before submission to the International.

Motion: All craft committee chairs need to have final proposals typed and presented to Executive Board before October 19th.

Motion passed.

Discussion: Anthony Pawluc and his position as a quasi-Assistant Business Agent.

Brother Pawluc was to be temporarily moved up as an Assistant B.A. if the B.A. would be missing for a significant time period. That did not happen. The B.A. would have to approve any Assistant B.A. and could not make the move by fiat. With all the negotiations going, would it be unreasonable to add an Assistant B.A. and hire another office staff assistant to the Local?

It was pointed out that from a budget standpoint this might be a premature move.

Motion: To table discussion of Assistant B.A. until next Executive Board meeting.

Counter-motion: To postpone consideration of another Assistant B.A. until the 2006 budget.

Motion passed with one abstention.

Presentation: SDSA marketplace and advertisement.

A request of a waiver of the mailing fee for a notification to Set Decorators. Also, a request for Local 44 to sponsor a coffee cart with a donation at the event.

The SDSA magazine was asking for its annual advertising fee from Local 44.

Motion: To waive the mailing fee and sponsor a cart at the marketplace.

Motion passed with two abstentions.

Motion: To pay annual advertising fee to SDSA magazine.

Motion passed.

Presentation: The Secretary-Treasurer read a letter from the International President requesting donations to help IATSE members affected by Hurricane Katrina. The International had donated $10,000.

Motion: To approve $10,000 to the Hurricane Katrina relief for IATSE members in the affected area.

Motion passed.

Discussion: The continued absences of one of the Representatives of the Board. It was noted that one Board member had habitual absences, due to circumstances in his personal life. Board wished to have a complete Executive Board as on occasion a quorum had barely been maintained.

Motion: To send a certified letter to the Board member, requesting his participation, leave of absence, or resignation from the Board. No response would be considered to give Board the right to remove the member.

Motion passed.

Discussion: Lot Steward objections to the use of log books. As was noted earlier many Stewards objected to having to prepare log books. They didn't like the paper trail and felt it interfered with their ability to keep member's trust. Board members stated the purpose was to allow them to keep a pulse on the situations going on with the membership.

Motion: That Shop Stewards would no longer keep log books, but that B.A. would require Stewards to obtain formal training and that any Board member be allowed to attend Steward meetings at any time to here concerns.

On a split vote, motion passed.

Presentation: Business Agent Report

Downey Studios: Downey had filed suit against Local 44 because of the articles on concerns of contaminates at the facility in our Newsreel. It was pointed out that all articles were reprints of various reports, including a reprint of the West Coast IA's letter that certain contaminates were cleared.

Special Effects Letter: A letter to International President Short was being drafted to respond to the IA President's letter referencing the Special Effects conditions in a Newsreel article.

Discussion: To have the Committees from Property, Prop Master, and Set Decorators confer on the issue of "Shopper-Buyer" category before the October 19th deadline.

Wed., September 21, 2005 – Regular Meeting

Presentation: Gavin Koon from the West Coast IA came and gave an update on the efforts to organize Lenny Marvin Prop Shop.

It was noted that the prop shop was nearing final signing of a contract. The Board was informed of the history of the negotiations and their current position.

Discussion: Surrounding the methods and procedures which were followed during the negotiations.

Presentation: Hiring a second opinion lawyer regarding the powers of the Executive Board. Al Price came as an advocate for a second opinion attorney that had been recommended to the Local.

Discussion: The attorney had many years practice in the construction field, but did not specialize in pure labor law.

Motion: That the Executive Board not engage the service of the specific attorney recommended.

On a split vote, motion passed with one abstention.

Board entered into Executive Session.

Reading into Record: The Secretary-Treasurer read charges from members against former officer of Local into the minutes.

Discussion: The practice on some production lots of using a preferred vendor book; the "Red Book". How were our members to deal with this practice, especially when some of the vendors were non-union?

Discussion: A member had been identified as the one responsible for being the source of information on misconduct on a production and felt that the Union had not given him protection. The individual was given an offer as a Shop Steward for this lot.

Presentation: The Secretary-Treasurer presented the Board with the UBS financial reports, and answered questions.

Presentation: The Business Agent Report. Plan B and Window King are in negotiation to become signatories.

Attempts to define what a Set Decorator can do while driving their own car. Transporting other people is not one of the abilities.

With the removal of the Shop Steward log books, where was the B.A. with respect to getting the Steward's training?

Presentation: The Secretary-Treasurer Report.

Board members were provided with member status reports.

New initiatives were on track, even ahead of February's budget numbers at 130 current.

A letter was read that the Board had direct to be sent from one of its members for habitual absences. The letter had been mailed requesting the Board member respond.

Motion: That pending any legal ramifications the current Board member is to be removed from office. At the October 5th meeting, at least two alternate choices for replacement should be physical present, and chosen by the Representatives from which the vacancy occurred.

On a split vote, motion passed.

On of our members has begun a non-profit organization to help disadvantaged youths learn skills. He is asking for donations of money or time from current or retired 44 members to teach.

We are still searching for a Labor Union trained CPA. Upon his hiring the Bookkeeper will no longer be responsible for recordkeeping. The disability and collections have been consolidated into one position.

John Matheson was given two weeks severance pay after ending his service with the Local 44 office.

Craft meeting cards would be going out next week, any special wording needed to be submitted immediately.

Discussion: Upcoming contact negotiations. Representatives from each craft should be able to speak on their own behalf.

Motion: That all regular submissions to the Newsreel (B.A., Secretary-Treasurer, President reports) must adhere to the deadline published in the previous month's Newsreel.

On a split vote, motion passed.

Discussion: That agenda items for Board meetings be submitted well enough in advance that Executive Board member's are aware of the topics coming up for discussion.

Wed. October 5th, 2005 – Regular Meeting

Presentation: November ballot measures. Steve Neal a representative of the L.A. County Federation of Labor (AFL-CIO) came to give the labor line. Prop 74, 75, 76, and 77 were considered to be anti-labor attacks. The AFL-CIO was requesting mobilization and education of union members and encouraging get out the vote efforts to defeat the measures.

Motion: That the flyers provided by the County Fed be mailed to all members of the Local.

On a split vote, motion passed.

Nomination: New Property Craft Representative

Two names were presented to the Executive Board; Tobey Bays and Victor Nerone.

Each candidate was given an opportunity to make a speech and answer questions from Board members.

Under Executive Session the Board voted by secret ballot.

Tobey Bays was voted into the Property Rep position.

The Secretary-Treasurer swore in Brother Bays who immediately took his place on the Board.

Presentation: Business Agent Report Scott Wheatley returned home from hospital.

Much of the contract negotiation proposals have come in. E-Board members will receive all craft proposals in advance for review.

Special Effects disposal of explosives were discussed.

Three new signatories happened; Team III Divers, Industry Glass, and Plan B.

Three new grievances were going to arbitration.

Concerns from long-time members on the low amount of pension were brought to the attention of the B.A.

Presentation: Secretary-Treasurer Report The second reading of charges against a former officer was read into the minutes.

Discussion on the pending trial of November 2nd was explained.

Setting of second trial in December was discussed and settled at the 7th.

There were currently 144 new members in 2005, nearly the budgeted number.

ISS presented a gift check of $5,000 to Local 44 from their Prop Master golf tournament.

Member Riley Lyons had completed California teaching certification, had started a non-profit organization teaching disadvantaged youth trade skills, and was seeking support from Local 44 in donation of materials or possibly Retiree's volunteer help in instruction.

Motion: To give a $400 gift card for lumber supplies to Brother Lyons for training kids. Upon evidence of the appropriate use of the funds, additional funds would be considered.

On a split vote, motion passed.

The Secretary-Treasurer read a letter from the Theatrical Musical Association. This is the 144th anniversary.

Motion: To donate $500 to the Theatrical Music Association.

On a split vote, motion passed.

The Secretary-Treasurer read a letter from John Diaz of Local One. IA President Short had appointed him to help fight bills in Congress weakening OSHA standards.

Discussion on how we continued to spend money on IA functions ensued. The Secretary-Treasurer pointed out that in the February 2005 budget a line item was set for these events and it hadn't been exceeded.

Presentation: CCA report on box rental.

Disney is trying to set hard numbers on box rentals.

Disney also is attempting to require all Coordinators to be the Safety Supervisor on their sets (not just for construction, but for anyone using the set). Coordinators have been given no all-encompassing training on safety.

Discussion: On the tabled talks about the shortened terms due to the previous election problems. The E-Board believed that though there might be changes in the CBLs, they had to use the language in the current CBLs, and there existed no precedent for extending terms.

Motion: To table any discussion on term extensions until 2006.

On a split vote, motion failed with four abstentions.

Motion: That the current compensation and terms be used and there will be no extension due to the previous elections.

On a split vote, motion passed with one abstention.
